PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE

This was a workshop with Brian Allen to discuss having him help the council come up with a new subdivision ordinance and building permit requirements. Brian said he had more experience with subdivisions than with building permits but he would try to help with both. He asked the council to think about where they want subdivisions and what size lots and if they want zoning or not. Lots will need to be a minimum of a ½ acre. Zoning can help control growth and is usually used to control multi-family housing but the council wasn't sure if they wanted to put zoning restrictions in place. Brian suggested regulating commercial buildings with some kind of special use permits instead of zoning. The council needs to think about what their goals and plans are. There needs to be a balancing act between regulation and freedom.

Brian said he could get started on the subdivision ordinance by looking at what other towns have in place. He asked the council to start doing the same. Ryan is going to put ordinances in Google Docs and the council can share their input online.

Brian suggested meeting twice a month.

Ryan motioned to adjourn the meeting and Mark seconded. The meeting adjourned at 7:45 p.m.
